CHAPTER 1

Overview

CHAPTER 1: Overview

Introduction

Project 25 – The establishment of a permanently simplified, coherent and generally accessible statute book is the most sizeable investigation undertaken by the South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) since its establishment to date. The project has been running intermittently since 1981 and is set to continue for at least another five years, making it the longest running SALRC investigation ever. The current two phases of the investigation, the subproject on statutory law revision and the subproject on the review of the Interpretation Act 33 of 1957, involve 10 researchers – the greatest number of researchers ever working on a single project. The statutory law revision subproject will eventually see the release of more than 30 reports: another unprecedented event.

In a run-up to Project 25, the SALRC undertook a review of all pre-Union legislation as part of Project 7 – Revision of pre-Union statutes shortly after its establishment in 1973. This resulted in the repeal of approximately 1 200 ordinances and proclamations of the former Cape Colony, Colony of Natal, Oranje Vrijstaat Republiek and Zuid-Afrikaansche Republiek. In 1981 the SALRC finalised a report on the repeal of redundant and obsolete post-Union statutes as part of Project 25 – The establishment of a permanently simplified, coherent and generally accessible statute book. This report resulted in Parliament adopting the Repeal of Laws Act 94 of 1981, which repealed approximately 790 post-Union statutes.

In 2003 Cabinet approved that the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development coordinates and mandates the SALRC to review provisions in the legislative framework that would result in discrimination as defined by section 9 of the Constitution. This section – also referred to as the equality clause – prohibits unfair discrimination on the basis of race, gender, sex, pregnancy, marital status, ethnic or social origin, colour, sexual orientation, age, disability, religion, conscience, belief, culture, language and birth.

In 2004 the SALRC included an investigation aimed at the revision of statutory law in its law reform programme. This investigation, a subproject of Project 25, entails a review of all statutes from 1910 to date. While the emphasis in previous investigations was on identification of obsolete and redundant provisions for repeal, the emphasis in the current investigation is on compliance with section 9 of the Constitution. However, all redundant and obsolete provisions identified in the course of the current investigation will also be recommended for repeal.

With the advent of constitutional democracy in 1994, the legislation enacted prior to that year remained in force. This has led to a situation where numerous pre-1994 provisions are not aligned with the Constitution. An audit by the SALRC of national legislation remaining on the statute book since 1910 established that there are in the region of 2 800 individual statutes; comprising principal Acts, amendment Acts, private Acts, additional or supplementary Acts and partially repealed Acts. A substantial number of these Acts serve no useful purpose anymore, while many others still contain unconstitutional provisions that have already given rise to expensive and sometimes protracted litigation.

The methodology adopted in this investigation is to review the statute book by state Department. The SALRC identifies a Department, reviews the national legislation administered by that Department for constitutionality, redundancy and obsolescence, sets out the preliminary findings and proposals in a consultation paper and consults with the relevant Department to verify the SALRC's preliminary findings and proposals. The next step that the SALRC undertakes is the development of a discussion paper in respect of the legislation of each Department, and upon its approval by the SALRC, to publish it for general information and public comment. Finally, the SALRC develops a report in respect of each Department that reflects the SALRC's recommendations and comment received on the discussion paper, and that includes a draft Bill proposing amending and repealing legislation.

The report on the review of the legislation administered by the Department of Transport has been finalised and approved by the Commission and the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development. The Transport Laws Repeal Act 10 of 2010, the legislation that flowed from the Transport report, was enacted in December 2010 and came into operation on 16 February 2011. Seven discussion papers have been published for general information and public comment and another four discussion papers will be published after approval thereof by the Commission at its next meeting. Five consultation papers have been submitted to the relevant line-function state departments for comment.

The Commission appointed under section 3 of the South African Law Reform Commission Act 19 of 1973, with effect from 1 January 2007, continued its excellent work. The Commission is comprised of the following Commissioners appointed by the President:

CHAPTER 2

Objects, Constitution and Functioning

CHAPTER 2: Objects, Constitution and Functioning

Establishment of the Commission

The South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) was established by the South African Law Reform Commission Act 19 of 1973 (the SALRC Act).

Objects of the Commission

The objects of the Commission are set out as follows in section 4 of the SALRC Act:

To do research with reference to all branches of the law of the Republic and to study and investigate all such branches in order to make recommendations for the development, improvement, modernisation or reform thereof, including

- the repeal of obsolete or unnecessary provisions;
- the removal of anomalies;
- the bringing about of uniformity in the law in force in the various parts of the Republic;
- the consolidation or codification of any branch of the law; and
- steps aimed at making the common law more readily available.

In short, the Commission is an advisory body whose aim is the renewal and improvement of the law of South Africa on a continuous basis.

Constitution of the Commission

The members of the Commission are appointed by the President.

In terms of section 3(1)(a) of the SALRC Act the Commission is constituted as follows:

- A judge of the Constitutional Court, the Supreme Court of Appeal or a High Court, as Chairperson.
- Not more than eight persons who appear to the President to be fit for appointment on account of the tenure of a judicial office or on account of experience as an advocate or as an attorney or as a professor of law at any university, or on account of any other qualification relating to the objects of the Commission.

As indicated in Chapter 1, the President appointed a new Commission for a period of five years with effect from 1 January 2007.

Annexure D contains a list of members of the Commission and the periods for which they served or for which they were appointed.

Powers and duties of the Commission

The powers and duties of the Commission are set out in section 5 of the SALRC Act. Section 5 directs the Commission to draw up programmes that include, in order of preference, the various matters which in the Commission's opinion require consideration. The programmes must be submitted to the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development (the Minister) for approval. The Commission may include any suggestion for investigation relating to the Commission's objects received from any person or body.

The Commission has to investigate the matters appearing on the programme as approved by the Minister and may consult any person or body for the purpose of the investigation. The Commission prepares draft legislation if it is of the opinion that legislation ought to be enacted with regard to the matter investigated.

Committees

Section 7A of the SALRC Act provides for the establishment of committees of the Commission. There are two categories: committees appointed by the Commission and consisting of members of the Commission only (such as the Working Committee), and committees consisting of members of the Commission and persons who are not members of the Commission. The latter are appointed by the Minister. The object of the second category of committees is to utilise the expertise of persons outside the Commission and to ensure direct community involvement in the activities of the Commission.

Committees of the Commission perform the functions assigned to them by the Commission and are subject to the Commission's directives. Activities performed by committees are deemed to be performed by the Commission and for the purposes of remuneration, members of committees are deemed to be members of the Commission.

Working Committee

Under the first category of committees, the Commission has established a working committee which consists of members of the Commission co-opted for meetings according to their availability (section 7A(1)(a) of the SALRC Act).

The Working Committee may be considered the executive committee of the Commission. In accordance with the Commission's directives, this Committee attends on a continuous basis to routine matters and other matters that require urgent attention. The Working Committee may exercise all the functions of the Commission excluding the approval of reports. The Committee also considers the inclusion of new investigations in the Commission's programme. Furthermore, the Committee plans and manages the activities of the Commission's Secretariat.

Advisory committees

Advisory committees fall under the second category of committees. The Commission follows the practice of instituting advisory committees consisting of experts to assist with investigations and to advise the Commission if a specific investigation on the Commission's programme so requires (Section 7A(1)(b) of the SALRC Act).

The names of the members of the advisory committees appear in Annexure E.

Project leaders

Although the SALRC Act does not specifically refer to the appointment of project leaders, it is the Commission's practice to appoint a project leader for each investigation on its research programme. A project leader could be a Commissioner, a member of an advisory committee appointed by the Minister (section 7A(1)(b)(ii)), or any other person who is not a Commissioner and who is not a member of an advisory committee (section 8(2)).

The main task of a project leader is to guide the designated researcher by providing advice and direction and evaluating the research. If the project leader is the designated chairperson of a committee as envisaged in section 7A(3) of the SALRC Act, he or she will also guide the proceedings of the advisory committee.

Secretariat of the Commission

The Commission is assisted in its task by a full-time Secretariat consisting of officials on the establishment of the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development. The Secretariat consists of a research component and an administrative component. A Deputy Chief State Law Adviser serves as the Secretary of the Commission. Mr Michael Palumbo was appointed as Deputy Chief State Law Adviser with effect from 1 June 2008.

The post of Assistant Secretary to the Commission is vacant.

Research component

The research component of the Secretariat consists of 18 State Law Advisers from diverse backgrounds. Their task is to conduct the necessary research under the guidance of project leaders (who are appointed by the Commission), to consult with interested parties, to compile issue papers, discussion papers and draft reports and to carry out other assignments of the Commission.

Law reform cannot be delivered without high quality research. The in-house researchers at the South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) are qualified legal professionals, the majority of whom have vast experience in the law reform environment. The result has been the development of scholarly research publications and the involvement of the researchers in various activities as highlighted in Chapter 5.

Financing of the SALRC

The SALRC's budget for the financial year 1 April 2010 to 31 March 2011 was R21 963 000, which is made up as follows:

- Personnel expenditure R15 725 000
- Current expenditure R5 878 000
- Capital expenditure R360 000

Programme

The SALRC Act provides that the Commission must, from time to time, draw up programmes listing in order of preference the matters which in its opinion require consideration. The Commission's programme is subject to the Minister's approval.

The Commission's present programme appears in Annexure F. As indicated, Annexure C contains a list of all the investigations included in the Commission's programme since its inception and indicates the final result or current state of investigations.

Any person or body is free to submit proposals for law reform to the Commission. In each case the Commission considers the merits of a proposal. In some instances a preliminary inquiry is instituted to determine whether the inclusion of a matter in the Commission's programme is justified. The Commission may also include matters in the programme of its own accord.

Every effort is made to dispose of urgent matters with the least possible delay. However, the Commission has to follow certain procedures which sometimes take up considerable time. The availability of funds and skilled research capacity, the nature and extent of the inquiry and the need for consultation all determine the time spent on each project. Consultation, in particular, is time-consuming, but the Commission regards it as an indispensable part of the law reform process.

Working methods

Research is done to determine authoritatively the existing legal position and to identify shortcomings or deficiencies that need to be rectified. Consultation takes place between the researcher, project leader, advisory committee (where one exists), the general public, stakeholders and persons with particular knowledge concerning the matter under investigation. Comparative studies are carried out in order to enable the Commission to benefit from experiences elsewhere in the world. The consultation process is facilitated by the Commission's policy (since 1996) of compiling issue papers as a first step. Issue papers outline the problems encountered with particular areas of the law and invite submissions on possible solutions. They are distributed as widely as possible for general information and comment and are in appropriate cases also supplemented by workshops. Responses to an issue paper and further intensive research form the basis for the preparation of a discussion paper.

Discussion papers contain essential information on the investigation and the Commission's tentative proposals for reform. In particular, a discussion paper will include a statement of the existing legal position and its deficiencies, a comparative survey and a range of possible solutions. In most cases the discussion paper will also include a draft Bill. Members of the public are informed of the availability of discussion papers by means of media releases and media conferences. In addition, copies are distributed to organisations and, sometimes, to individuals whose views on the subject under discussion the Commission particularly wishes to canvass. The responses to the provisional proposals are carefully studied before final decisions are made. The Commission also hears oral evidence in appropriate cases. Its recommendations are embodied in comprehensive reports, which are submitted to the Minister.

In making its recommendations, the Commission bears in mind that there is a need to provide access to justice for all; to protect the rights of all parties – especially those of women, children and the poor; to make legal processes affordable; to make the law less complicated; and to give effect to the values and principles underlying the Constitution.

Judging from comments received, the Commission's discussion papers and reports are of a high standard. The faculties of law of various universities often prescribe the Commission's research publications as literature for their students at undergraduate as well as postgraduate level.

The many valuable comments and proposals received on the Commission's recommendations as contained in its documents, confirm that its working methods are successful. These methods ensure that the Commission's final recommendations are well-substantiated and are the product of thorough debate. The working methods also facilitate the enactment of the Commission's proposed legislation, which embodies the recommendations.

Commission publications

In the course of its activities, the Commission publishes a variety of documents. The document series of the Commission consists of the following:

Commission papers and committee papers

Commission papers and committee papers are internal documents that are normally not available outside the ranks of the Commission. In these papers proposals for the inclusion of matters in the Commission's programme, research results for the information of or consideration by the Commission, draft issue papers, discussion papers and reports as well as a variety of other matters in respect of the functioning of the Commission are dealt with. The papers are numbered in sequence as they serve before the Commission each year.

Issue papers

In order to involve the community actively at an earlier stage, the Commission publishes issue papers for appropriate investigations as the first step in the consultation process. The purpose of an issue paper is to announce an investigation, to clarify the aim and extent of the investigation, and to suggest the options available for solving existing problems.

Issue papers published since the introduction of the document series are listed in Annexure A.

Discussion papers

Discussion papers, previously referred to as working papers, are documents in which the Commission's preliminary research results are contained. In most cases discussion papers also contain draft legislation. The main purpose of these documents is to test public opinion on solutions identified by the Commission.

Discussion papers published since the introduction of the document series are listed in Annexure B.

Reports

The SALRC Act requires the Commission to prepare a full report on any matter investigated by it and to submit such reports together with draft legislation, if any, to the Minister for consideration. All reports of the Commission are official, but not all are published. Annexure C lists all the investigations reported on by the Commission since its establishment.

In addition to the reports on particular investigations, the SALRC Act provides that the Commission must annually submit to the Minister a report on all its activities during the previous year.

Papers in the Commission's research series

This series has been used mainly for publications intended to make the common law more readily available and contains translated common law sources and noters-up. Research papers published are listed in Annexure G.

Obtaining Commission publications

Issue papers and discussion papers are supplied free of charge to interested institutions and persons who wish to comment on a particular matter. These papers are widely distributed and are also obtainable from the Commission's offices. All issue papers and discussion papers published since 1996 are available on the SALRC website.

The annual report, papers in the research series and reports on investigations are available from the Commission's offices. All reports on investigations published since 1996 and all the Commission's annual reports since 1996 are available on the SALRC website.

Commission and Committee meetings

The Commission met during the reporting period on 1 August 2009, 10 October 2009, 13 March 2010, 14 August 2010 and 27 November 2010.

The Working Committee meeting scheduled for 18 June 2010 had to be postponed as the attendants did not constitute a quorum. The Working Committee met again on 17 November 2010.

The Advisory Committee assisting with the review of legislation administered by the Departments of Basic Education and Higher Education and Training met on 26 May 2010.

Progress Report

CHAPTER 3: Progress Report

It is axiomatic that the extent to which the South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) can add value will to a large extent be influenced by the nature of the work it undertakes and its particular experience and suitability to do so. In selecting topics for law reform there is a need for independence from, but good liaison with, government. It is therefore important for the Commission to understand how its work will contribute to the government's overall strategic outcomes and priorities. There should also be explicit recognition by government of the particular contribution the SALRC can make to the overall law reform environment.

Research programme of the SALRC

For the year under review the research programme of the SALRC was as follows:

Preliminary investigations

During the period under review, the SALRC conducted the following preliminary investigations of its own volition or following requests for investigations by other organs of state or members of the public:

- Cyber crime
- Access to Justice
- Protection of journalistic sources
- Pornography in the mass media

The Commission is still awaiting the Minister's decision on whether to include investigations into the issue of violence against pregnant women and the protection of journalistic sources. The Commission approved an investigation into the expungement of certain criminal records on 13 March 2010. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 137 – Expungement of certain criminal records in the SALRC's programme on 28 April 2010.

The Commission approved an investigation into the practice of ukuthwala on 14 August 2010. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 13 – The practice of ukuthwala in the SALRC's programme on 2 December 2010.

SALRC research programme and government priorities

The projects on the SALRC's programme are in line with the government's priorities as identified in the State of the Nation Address delivered by President Jacob Zuma on 11 February 2010, the outcomes envisaged for Government's Programme of Action and the strategic plan developed by the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development (DOJCD) for the period 2011 to 2016.

In the State of the Nation Address, the President reiterated the obligation upon government departments to 'work faster, harder and smarter'. The focus of Project 25 – Statutory law revision at present is constitutionality of legislation in view of section 9 of the Constitution, and repeal of redundant and obsolete provisions. The review will go a long way towards ensuring the constitutionality of the entire statute book. The review will, in addition, improve government's ability to deliver services by 'cleaning up' the statute book through the repeal of redundant and obsolete legislative provisions. In this manner the review will make a meaningful contribution towards making the state more efficient and responsive to the needs and aspirations of the people.

The President highlighted the need to ensure that women, children and persons with disabilities can access developmental opportunities. The Project 100 family law and the law of persons investigations into custody of and access to minor children; review of aspects of matrimonial property law; and investigation into Hindu marriages are aimed at assisting members of the community, especially women, to exercise their rights and protect their interests and the interests of their children. The investigation into assisted decision-making relating to adults with impaired decision-making capacity (Project 122) aims to provide for measures to deal with the shared problems faced by persons who need assistance with decision-making. The project aims to address the needs of especially older people, mentally disabled persons and other adults who need support in exercising their legal capacity.

The President highlighted government's commitment to five priorities, namely education, health, rural development and land reform, creating decent work, and fighting crime. He committed government to further its work to reduce serious and violent crimes, and to ensure that the justice system works efficiently. The efficiency of the criminal justice system will be enhanced by the review of the law of evidence (Project 126). The investigation into sexual offences focusing on adult prostitution (Project 107) is a critical step in finding ways to address a social problem which has strong links with organised crime on the one hand, and the exploitation of vulnerable groups on the other hand.

The review of the Interpretation Act 33 of 1957 (part of Project 25) to bring the Act in line with the principles of constitutional democracy and practices of interpretation used by Parliament and the courts since 1994, will enhance the efficiency of the justice system. The investigation into prescription periods (Project 125) is aimed at harmonising the provisions of existing laws on prescription periods. The differing provisions for prescription periods in statutes lead to legal uncertainty and unfair advantages to especially government institutions in some instances. Apart from possible constitutional challenges in the latter instance, uniform prescription periods will benefit all citizens as users of the justice system.

Government identified 12 outcomes for 2010 and beyond to achieve its programme of action. These outcomes are, amongst others, the following:

- Outcome 3: All people in South Africa are and feel safe.
- Outcome 12: An efficient, effective and development-oriented public service and an empowered, fair and inclusive citizenship.

As indicated previously under the discussion on the President's State of the Nation address, the review of the law of evidence (Project 126) will support the fight to reduce crime and corruption. Corruption and the high incidence of violent crime in South Africa contribute significantly to feelings of fear and anxiety suffered by many in the country.

Any measures to increase the successful prosecution and conviction of criminals to add to people's safety and to make them feel safer are to be welcomed.

The investigation into assisted decision-making relating to adults with impaired decision-making capacity (Project 122), and the investigation into custody of and access to minor children (Project 100), are important to support an efficient, effective and development-oriented public service and an empowered, fair and inclusive citizenship. Both these projects are investigating, amongst others, the provision of legal procedures and establishing government systems to increase protection and improve levels of service delivery provided to vulnerable and marginalised groups by the state institutions concerned, thus enhancing the quality of their citizenship.

The DOJCD's Strategic Plan sets out the Department's policy priorities, programmes and project plans for the current five-year planning cycle, as approved, within the scope of available resources, and indicates, among others, its commitment to the following:

- Ensuring that everyone in South Africa is and feels safe.
- Developing policies for protecting the rights of vulnerable groups and victims in our society.
- Administering deceased and insolvent estates efficiently.
- Promoting legislation and constitutional development to meet the needs of society.

As indicated above, the review of the law of evidence (Project 126) will support efforts towards ensuring that everyone in South Africa is and feels safe. Protecting the rights of vulnerable groups and victims in our society is a consideration in the investigation into adult prostitution, as women – especially women from poor communities – are usually the victims of exploitation in the sex industry. The investigation into assisted decision-making relating to adults with impaired decision-making capacity (Project 122) focuses on the needs of especially older people, mentally disabled persons and other adults who need support in exercising their legal capacity.

Another project that has recently been included in the SALRC's programme is the investigation into the practice of ukuthwala. The cultural practice of ukuthwala is often abused by using it as an excuse for abducting young girls (between 12 and 15 years) and selling or forcing them into marriages with adult men. The girl child, especially in poor and unsophisticated communities, is highly vulnerable to harmful cultural practices or exploitation conducted under the guise of culture. One of the SALRC's other new projects, the review of witchcraft legislation, will support the constitutional guarantee to freedom of religion, but will also serve to protect vulnerable groups. It is mostly women advanced in age that are persecuted as witches by communities holding traditional beliefs. These innocent victims are vulnerable to a double degree: as women and as older persons.

The investigation into the administration of estates (Project 134) will play a major role in improving the efficient administration of deceased and insolvent estates. The review of the entire South African statute book for constitutionality in view of section 9 of the Constitution (part of Project 25) will make a major contribution towards the promotion of constitutional development. The right to equality is one of the founding principles of the Bill of Rights as enshrined in the Constitution.

A significant number of the Bills promoted to Parliament by the DOJCD and other state departments flows from SALRC investigations. Bills currently before Parliament and Acts recently finalised that resulted from SALRC investigations include the following:

- The Protection of Personal Information Bill [B9–2009] is being considered by the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development (Project 124 – Privacy and Data Protection).
- The Protection from Harassment Bill [B1–2010] is being considered by the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development (Project 130 – Stalking).
- The Prevention and Combating of Trafficking in Persons Bill [B7–2010] is being considered by the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development (Project 131 – Trafficking in Persons).
- The Transport Laws Repeal Bill [B19–2010] was introduced into Parliament on 19 July 2010. The Transport Laws Repeal Act 10 of 2010 was published on 2 December 2010 and came into operation on 16 February 2011 (Project 25 – Statutory Law Revision).

It is clear that the work done by the SALRC is pivotal in promoting legislation and constitutional development to meet the needs of society.

The position regarding work in progress in respect of the Commission's research programme is as follows:

Project 25 – Statutory law revision: The establishment of a permanently simplified, coherent and generally accessible statute book

Redundancy, obsolescence and constitutionality of legislation

In 2004, the Commission embarked upon a major investigation aimed at revising the complete statute book with a view to removing or adapting legislative provisions considered to be unconstitutional, redundant or obsolete. An audit of all national legislation (excluding provincial and secondary legislation) by the Commission revealed that there are close to 3 000 statutes on the statute book, comprising Principal Acts, Amendment Acts, Supplementary or Additional Acts and Private Acts. Many of these Acts are not being applied anymore, while others contain provisions that are in conflict with the Constitution. Redundant and obsolete provisions on the statute book are being identified and government departments are being consulted in order to verify these provisions.

Numerous meetings were held to develop a methodology for conducting the investigation into the constitutionality and redundancy of existing legislation. The constitutional validity aspect of this investigation focuses on statutes or provisions in statutes that are clearly inconsistent with the right to equality entrenched in section 9 of the Constitution. In practical terms, this means that this leg of the investigation will be limited to those statutes or provisions in statutes that –

- differentiate between people or categories of people, and which are not rationally connected to a legitimate government purpose; or
- unfairly discriminate against people or categories of people on one or more grounds listed in section 9(3) of the Constitution; or
- unfairly discriminate on grounds which impair or have the potential to impair a person's fundamental human dignity as a human being.

Consequently, a law or a provision in a law which appears, on the face of it, to be neutral and non-discriminatory, but which has or could have discriminatory effect or consequences, will be left to the judicial process.

On 28 February 2011 a progress report on the investigation was forwarded to DOJCD for submission to the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development (the Minister) with a view to informing Cabinet about the progress made in the investigation. The progress report was placed on the agenda for the Cabinet meeting to be held in April 2011.

Prof Cathi Albertyn developed a document for the SALRC setting out guidelines for the identification of legislative provisions that are obviously in conflict with section 9 of the Constitution. The guidelines are based on an analysis of Constitutional Court judgements. The tables of constitutional cases as per Prof Albertyn's report have been updated and made available to the researchers involved with Project 25. Future judgements of the Constitutional Court relating to the 'equality' clause in the Constitution will be added as and when they become available.

The Commission considered the status of Project 25 on 23 June 2007. The Commission noted that internal research capacity to conduct statutory law review was limited due to the fact that the majority of researchers are attending to other projects on the SALRC's programme. The Commission approved in principle the appointment of advisory committee members by the Minister to increase the Commission's research capacity in respect of fourteen national state departments that administer a high number of statutes. The departments at the time were the Departments of Agriculture, Communications, Defence, Education, Environmental Affairs and Tourism, Health, Home Affairs, Justice and Constitutional Development, Labour, Land Affairs, Minerals and Energy, National Treasury, Provincial and Local Government, and Trade and Industry.

The SALRC submitted a memorandum to DOJCD in September 2007 proposing the appointment of advisory committees by the Minister. The Minister appointed 112 advisory committee members on 31 July 2008. The first meetings of the advisory committees took place during October and November 2008.

After the reshuffling of state departments in 2009, the fourteen advisory committees appointed for Project 25 – Statutory law revision are now assisting with the review of legislation administered by the Departments of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries; Basic Education; Communications; Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs; Defence and Military Veterans; Energy; Environmental Affairs; Health; Higher Education and Training; Home Affairs; Justice and Constitutional Development; Labour; Mineral Resources; National Treasury; Rural Development and Land Reform; Tourism; and Trade and Industry.

The statutes of the remaining Departments that administer a smaller number of statutes are being or will be reviewed by SALRC researchers, namely Arts and Culture; Correctional Services; Human Settlements; International Relations and Cooperation; Police; Public Enterprises; Public Service and Administration; Public Works; Science and Technology; Social Development; Sport and Recreation; State Security; Transport; Water Affairs; and Women, Youth, Children and People with Disabilities. The review of the legislation administered by the Department of Transport has been finalised.

The following table indicates work in progress in respect of the revision of the statute book for constitutionality, redundancy and obsolescence:

Department	Progress
Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries (DAFF) Ms Ronel van Zyl	The statutes administered by DAFF are being analysed to determine which are redundant, obsolete or unconstitutional in order to develop a consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals. Due to the diversity of agricultural legislation and the lack of experts in this field, it was decided that the SALRC will develop the consultation paper in-house, using the research submitted by advisory committee members. The target date for submitting the consultation paper to DAFF for comment is October 2011.
Arts and Culture (DAC) Ms Lowesa Stuurman	The statutes administered by DAC are being analysed to determine which are redundant, obsolete or unconstitutional in order to develop a consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals. The methodology applied in the project has changed since the researcher, who resigned in January 2008, developed the first draft consultation paper on the matter. The draft consultation paper therefore needs to be augmented with additional research. The target date for submitting the consultation paper to DAC for comment is 30 September 2011.
Basic Education (DBE) Mr Linda Mngoma	The statutes administered by DBE were analysed to determine which are redundant, obsolete or unconstitutional. The consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals was submitted to DBE on 4 June 2010 for comment. DBE comment was received on 26 October 2010. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 29 April 2011.

Discussion Paper 120 was published on 8 December 2010 for general information and public comment. The return date for comment was 31 March 2011. The target date for finalising the draft report for submission to the Commission for consideration is 30 November 2011.

The consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals was submitted to DOD on 26 March 2010 for comment and discussed with DOD at a workshop held on 30 March 2010. DOD comment was received on 23 July 2010. The draft discussion paper was submitted to DOD on 23 August 2010 for comment. DOD comment was received on 20 October 2010. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 29 April 2011.

The target date for submitting the consultation paper to DEA for comment is 30 September 2011.
Health (DOH) Ms Ronel van Zyl	The statutes administered by DOH are being analysed to determine which are redundant, obsolete or unconstitutional in order to develop a consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals. The target date for submitting the consultation paper to DOH for comment is 30 November 2011.
Higher Education and Training (DHET) Mr Linda Mngoma	The statutes administered by DHET were analysed to determine which are redundant, obsolete or unconstitutional. The consultation paper with repeal and amendment proposals was submitted to DHET on 4 June 2010 for comment. DHET comment was received on 22 September 2010. From comments received from both DHET and the Department of Basic Education (DBE), it transpired that there are no substantial legislative proposals with regard to DHET legislation. In February 2011 it was decided that the limited research proposals emanating from this investigation should be incorporated into the DBE discussion paper. On 1 March 2011 the decision and the reasons for termination of the investigation were communicated to DHET. DHET accepted the proposal.

Review of the Interpretation Act

The ad hoc Joint Committee on the Open Democracy Bill, 1998 (which resulted in the Promotion of Access to Information Act, 1998) in its resolutions on the Bill adopted on 24 January 2000, amongst others requested the Minister to consider the amendment of the Interpretation Act 33 of 1957 to bring it in line with the principles of constitutional democracy and practices of interpretation used by Parliament and the courts since 1994. The Commission decided on 17 November 2000 that the review of the Interpretation Act should form part of its existing Project 25 on Statute law: The establishment of a permanently simplified, coherent and generally accessible statute book. This was subsequently approved by the Minister.

The Commission approved the publication of a discussion paper on the review of the Interpretation Act on 9 September 2006. A media statement announcing the availability of Discussion Paper 112 was released on 6 October 2006. The discussion paper is discussed in the 2006/2007 annual report. After several extensions to afford respondents more time to comment, the final closing date for comments on Discussion Paper 112 was determined as 30 April 2007. Comment on the discussion paper was received as late as September 2007.

Due to his involvement in Project 25 the researcher had not been able to attend to this project for an extended period. The researcher has been developing the draft report since November 2010. On 8 November 2010 the researcher participated in a round table discussion with officials from National Treasury, the Financial Intelligence Centre, SARS, the Reserve Bank and the Financial Services Board on this review. The researcher provided an overview of the review of the Interpretation Act project and the proposals made in Discussion Paper 112. The participants undertook to submit comment in 2011. From February to March 2011 the researcher followed up with the Department of Public Service Administration (DPSA) and the Financial Services Board on progress with their awaited comments. National Treasury and DPSA were granted extension to comment until 6 June 2011 at their request. The target date for submitting the draft report to the project leader for consideration and comment is 31 August 2011. The target date for finalising the draft report for submission to the Commission for consideration is 30 November 2011.

Project 94 – Arbitration

The investigation initially dealt with international and domestic commercial arbitration only. A report on international arbitration was submitted to the Minister in July 1998 and a report on domestic arbitration was submitted to the Minister in June 2001.

Alternative dispute resolution

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR) covers all forms of dispute resolution other than litigation or adjudication through the courts. It therefore includes a broad range of mechanisms and processes designed to assist parties in resolving disputes creatively and effectively. These mechanisms and processes are not intended to supplant court adjudication, but rather to supplement it. The most common types of ADR include negotiation, conciliation, mediation and arbitration. An issue paper dealing with all aspects of ADR was published for general information and comment during 1997.

Information regarding Issue Paper 8 – Arbitration: Alternative dispute resolution published in May 1997 appears in the 1998 annual report. Discussion Paper 83 – Arbitration: Domestic arbitration and Discussion Paper 87 – Arbitration: Community dispute resolution structures was submitted to the Minister of JCD at a media conference on 8 September 1999. The closing date for comment was extended to 30 November 1999. Information regarding Discussion Papers 83 and 87 appears in the 1999 annual report. The Commission has considered the draft report on several occasions and referred it for amendment. The target date for submitting the draft report to the Commission for consideration is 29 April 2011.

Family mediation

The field of family and divorce mediation developed in a highly segmented fashion as services in the past were provided along lines of race, culture and income level. Family advocates and the divorce courts do utilise mediation, but family advocates have been criticised for not making proper use of mediation procedures, while mediation in the divorce courts is a limited, irregular and informal part of the settlement process. Social workers in provincial institutions are also involved in this area and court referrals often result in intervention requests.

The advisory committee decided that a discussion paper on family mediation would be completed subject to the finalisation of the investigation into community dispute resolution structures. At this stage the researcher is giving priority to Hindu marriages and Project 25 investigations.

Project 100 – Family law and the law of persons

The Commission approved on 23 June 2007 that the name of Project 128, 'Review of aspects of the law of divorce', be changed to 'Custody of and access to minor children' in accordance with its focus and that, because of possible mutual elements in Project 128 and Project 129 – Review of matrimonial property law, both investigations should be dealt with as subprojects under the Commission's existing broad investigation into family law and the law of persons (Project 100). The Commission also approved that the Minister be approached to appoint a joint advisory committee for the two sub-projects.

On 20 May 2008 the Minister approved the inclusion of the former Project 128 – Review of aspects of the law of divorce and the former Project 129 – Review of aspects of matrimonial property law as subprojects under Project 100 – Family law and the law of persons. This was done in view of possible mutual elements – such as a possible need to reform current divorce procedures – between these two subprojects. The Minister also appointed a single advisory committee to assist with the two investigations.

The Commission approved on 9 September 2006 the inclusion of an investigation into the recognition of Hindu Marriages in the SALRC's programme. This investigation is conducted as part of Project 100 – Family law and the law of persons.

Custody of and access to minor children

This investigation emanates from a request received from a family counsellor at the Office of the Family Advocate in Bloemfontein. Data received from focus group forums, questionnaires and consultations held during 2008 were analysed and collated by the researcher for discussion by the advisory committee meeting. The committee considered a draft discussion paper on 9 March 2009.

The researcher allocated to this project left the SALRC at the end of April 2009 and the project was assigned to another researcher from 1 May 2009. The newly assigned researcher met with the advisory committee on 22 June 2009 to discuss the way forward. It was decided that the existing draft discussion paper would be published as an issue paper after it has been remodelled according to a framework approved at the meeting.

In addition to the investigation into those aspects of family mediation that were covered in the original document, the issue paper will also focus on the broader developments in family law in South Africa impacting on care and contact matters. The investigation will include family mediation in the informal sector and the viability of family courts. The object of the investigation is to develop a new integrated structure for the implementation of family law in South Africa with specific reference to care and contact issues. The target date for finalising the draft issue paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 31 December 2011.

Review of aspects of matrimonial property law

The Matrimonial Property Act was passed in 1984 in order to deal with shortcomings in the matrimonial property law at the time. The Act has been in place for more than 25 years. Apart from problems which have in particular been brought to the SALRC's attention, a number of social and legal changes since 1984 (including the adoption of the 1996 Constitution and the recognition of customary marriages and civil unions) suggest that a review of the law is necessary to ensure that it meets current needs. The purpose of the investigation is to review the current law for greater legislative fairness and justice in governing interpersonal relationships between spouses.

The question whether sharing of pension benefits on divorce should be included in the investigation in view of the envisaged pending implementation of draft legislation dealing with this issue was resolved through consultation with DOJCD in January 2009. It was agreed that in view of the fact that DOJCD will not promote the Sharing of

Pension Benefits Bill / Divorce Amendment Bill (which emanated from a 1999 report of the Commission) in the near future, problems pertaining to the sharing of pension benefits on divorce would also be addressed in the review of matrimonial property law.

Preliminary research to develop an issue paper proceeds while the researcher allocated to the investigation is still involved in Project 122, which receives priority. The target date for submitting the draft issue paper to the advisory committee is June 2012.

Hindu Marriages

On 9 September 2006 the Commission approved the inclusion of an investigation into the recognition of Hindu Marriages in the SALRC's programme. This investigation is conducted as part of Project 100 – Family law and the law of persons. South African law does not recognise marriages by Hindu rites; therefore all the legal consequences of marriage do not apply to such marriages entered into in South Africa. Couples in a Hindu marriage for example need not use the court if they want to get divorced. Spouses can also not claim any of the legal consequences of divorce, such as maintenance, after the relationship has ended. The aim of this investigation is to look into the recognition of Hindu marriages in order to afford these marriages full legal recognition and the same status as marriages concluded in accordance with civil rites.

It was decided in November 2008 to convert an issue paper developed on the Recognition of Hindu Marriages into a discussion paper and to recommend the appointment of an advisory committee to the Minister in order to expedite progress on the investigation.

On 7 September 2009 the Minister of JCD approved the appointment of four advisory committee members to assist the researcher to fast-track the investigation. The advisory committee met on 23 November 2009 to decide on the way forward on this investigation. At this meeting the advisory committee identified a need for an additional committee member to enhance the capacity of the committee. The Minister appointed Advocate Devina Nadarajan Perumal as an advisory committee member on 12 January 2010. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 30 September 2011.

Project 107 – Sexual offences: Adult prostitution

This investigation forms part of the larger project on sexual offences. Issue Paper 19 – Sexual offences: Adult prostitution was published for general information and comment in August 2002. This leg of the investigation was held in abeyance for a while as priority was given to the completion of the investigations into protected disclosures (Project 123), stalking (Project 130) and trafficking in persons (Project 131). Research on law reform in respect of adult prostitution commenced in earnest again in 2008 and the Commission approved a discussion paper on this investigation on 28 March 2009. Discussion Paper 1/2009 – Sexual Offences: Adult Prostitution was published on 6 May 2009 for comment. Several workshops facilitated by the SALRC were held throughout the country during May, June and July 2009. A number of focus group meetings were also held at the invitation of various sector specific organisations.

The legal response to prostitution differs from society to society and over the course of time. Internationally, the topic of prostitution remains an emotive one and opinions on the legal response to prostitution are generally strongly polarised. Within the current totally criminalised setting, this is no different in South Africa. The researchers assigned to this project received in excess of 2 600 email submissions in addition to many handwritten and faxed submissions. To ensure full public participation in the investigation and afford all interested parties an opportunity to express their views, the SALRC is planning stakeholder specific meetings on a consultation paper, which will precede the report. Expert meetings on Sexual Offences: Adult Prostitution with government stakeholders and selected interest groups are planned for November 2011.

Project 122 – Assisted decision-making: Adults with impaired decision-making capacity

The SALRC, as far back as 1988, undertook an investigation with a view to improving the plight of mentally incapacitated persons who cannot afford the costs involved in securing a High Court appointed curator. The Commission's recommendations led to the adoption of the Mentally Ill Persons' Legal Interests Amendment Act 109 of 1990, which amended the Mental Health Act 18 of 1973. This amendment enabled an interested person to apply to the Master of the High Court (which entails insignificant costs) for the appointment of a curator to a person who is not declared to be mentally ill, but whom the applicant believes to be suffering from mental illness to such an extent that the person is incapable of managing his or her own affairs.

Although the present investigation revives the Commission's previous investigation, it covers a broader spectrum. The Commission decided to undertake the investigation after attention was drawn by a member of the public to the declining decision-making ability of persons with Alzheimer's disease and the outdated and inappropriate ways in which South African law addresses this. The Commission's investigation deals with the shared problems faced by persons who need support with decision-making irrespective of the reason therefore (e.g. mental illness, intellectual disability, brain injury, stroke or dementia). The investigation aims to provide for a system of supported decision-making that is affordable and accessible to all South Africans and that also protects persons who need protection from abuse, neglect and exploitation. In the course of this, the Commission also addresses the need for introducing the concept of an enduring power of attorney into South African law.

An issue paper on this project was published at the end of 2001. A discussion paper was published for general information and comment in January 2004 and is discussed in the 2003/2004 annual report. An extensive draft Bill comprising about 150 clauses was developed after broad consultation. Consultation with the DOJCD policy unit and with the Chief Master of the High Court on policy issues took place during 2007. Flow charts of processes reflected in the draft Bill were prepared at the request of the Chief Master during 2008 to enable long-term planning for the envisaged implementation of the proposed legislation. Policy input on the draft Bill was received from DOJCD on 27 January 2009.

The finalisation of the SALRC's draft report and draft Bill on assisted decision-making was interrupted by a request from the South African Human Rights Commission in September 2009 that the report and draft Bill should take into account the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD). The CRPD was ratified unreservedly by the South African Government. Subsequent consultation with representatives of the Human Rights Commission and government stakeholders (including the Departments of Health; Social Development; International Relations and Cooperation; and the Ministry of Women, Children and Persons with Disabilities) between October 2009 and April 2010 confirmed national and international uncertainty about the interpretation of the provisions of the CRPD dealing with legal capacity that impact on the SALRC's draft proposals.

The matter is complicated by the fact that the South African government has not yet taken concrete steps to implement the CRPD in South Africa by way of general legislation. A South African interpretation of the relevant provisions of the CRPD is therefore not available. On the advice of the Department of International Relations and Cooperation, and to take the matter forward, the SALRC in January 2010 embarked on further research to establish a draft interpretation of those articles of the CRPD which are relevant to the SALRC's draft proposals. The interpretation will serve as a basis for amendments to the text of the proposed draft Bill with a view to ensure its compliance with the CRPD. The interpretation and the amended text of the draft Bill will be submitted for consultation to government and other stakeholders before work on the draft report is resumed.

Drafts of an interpretation of the relevant provisions of the CRPD were submitted to the project leader on 31 March 2010 and 31 May 2011. Additional research and work on the draft interpretation continued during June and July 2010. Working sessions with a project committee member to amend the draft Bill, supported by additional research done throughout, took place from July 2010 to March 2011. The researcher completed the review and amendment of the proposed draft Bill on Assisted Decision-making for compatibility with the CRPD in draft form in December 2010. Further research was conducted and amendments effected subsequent to consultation with an expert official from the Office of the Master of the High Court, Pretoria. The current target date for finalising the draft report and proposed draft Bill for submission to the Commission for consideration is 31 March 2012.

Project 125 – Prescription periods

No comprehensive review of the provisions providing for different prescription periods – whether of a contractual or delictual nature – has ever been undertaken by the Commission. When reporting on the Bill which subsequently became the Legal Proceedings against certain Organs of State Act 40 of 2002, the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development recommended that the Minister be approached to request the Commission to conduct an investigation into the harmonisation of the provisions of existing laws providing for different prescription periods. An investigation into the review of prescription periods was subsequently included in the SALRC's programme.

Issue Paper 23 – Prescription periods was published for general information and comment in August 2003 and is discussed in the 2003/2004 annual report. The researcher involved in the preparation of the draft discussion paper was transferred to another department, and the project was assigned to a newly appointed researcher in June 2008. The researcher submitted the first draft of the discussion paper to the project leader in July 2009. After incorporating comments from the project leader and doing additional research to address concerns raised by the project leader, the researcher submitted additional drafts of the discussion paper to the project leader in October 2009 and February 2010. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper for submission to the Commission is 29 April 2011.

Project 126 – Review of the law of evidence

In 2001 the Commission's advisory committee dealing with the simplification of criminal procedure made a proposal for a review of the law of evidence with a view to simplifying this area of the law and aligning it with technological developments. The Commission endorsed the decision of the advisory committee and recommended the inclusion of the project in the SALRC's programme. The Minister approved the inclusion of an investigation to review the rules of evidence in the SALRC's programme in December 2001. An advisory committee for the investigation was approved on 26 November 2003. The Commission resolved that the advisory committee on the review of the rules of evidence should also direct the investigation into the use of electronic equipment in court proceedings.

The last decade has seen a rapid development in technology and with it unforeseen forms of evidence and attendant difficulties in determining admissibility. In addition thereto, the new constitutional dispensation has impacted on the law of evidence in a number of ways. The right of access to information, the entrenchment of the right to a fair trial and the exclusion of evidence obtained in an unconstitutional manner have all had an impact on the law of evidence and gave rise to a large body of new case law. In addition, the right to equality requires a re-examination of evidence in so far as it departs from the requirements of formal equality. The right to equality also necessitates a reconsideration of the rules of evidence in so far as the rules relate to effective equal access to justice.

Legal certainty on the extent of constitutionally enforceable rights is in the public interest. It is equally important to be able to ascertain the rules of evidence for the sake of case preparation. This issue impacts on the accused, the prosecution and the police in criminal cases, and on the parties to litigation in civil cases. The law of evidence is integral to the enforcement of substantive law and consequently has attracted the interest of non-governmental organisations working in specific fields such as child justice and the abuse of women.

The publication of Issue Paper 26 – Review of the law of evidence was announced at a media conference on 7 March 2008. The closing date for comments was 30 June 2008, but was extended at the request of a number of role players and because of limited response to the paper. The issue paper was redistributed in January 2009 under cover of a letter summarising the contents and requesting comment by the end of March 2009.

The project leader reconsidered the advisory committee's decision to proceed with discussion papers dealing with different aspects of evidence separate from its sub-investigation into the admissibility of electronic evidence in civil and criminal matters. She recommended that further papers on the review of the law of evidence be put on hold until Issue Paper 27 on electronic evidence has been finalised and the consultation phase in respect of both the issue paper and the proposed discussion paper has been concluded.

Hearsay and relevance

Discussion Paper 113 – Review of the law of evidence: Hearsay evidence and relevance was released at a media conference on 7 March 2008. The closing date for comments was 30 June 2008, but was extended at the request of a number of role players and because of limited response to the paper. The discussion paper was redistributed in January 2009 under cover of a letter summarising the contents and requesting comment by the end of March 2009. The advisory committee resolved not to embark on a public consultation phase and to finalise its report on hearsay and relevance based on the comments received from role players.

After research in this investigation had been completed, it transpired that the admissibility of electronic evidence, the provisions of the Electronic Communications and Transactions Act of 2002 (ECT Act) and the provisions of the Law of Evidence Amendment Act of 1988 dealing with hearsay evidence cannot be considered in isolation. A report on hearsay evidence cannot be finalised without considering the provisions of the ECT Act and the admissibility of electronic evidence in general.

Electronic evidence

In view of the challenges posed by technological developments, an overarching investigation reviewing aspects of criminal and civil law is a long-term goal. In adopting an incremental approach to the subproject on electronic evidence and related matters, the SALRC has in the first instance decided to publish an issue paper exploring issues relating to the admissibility of electronic evidence in criminal and civil proceedings. Issue Paper 27 – Electronic evidence in civil and criminal proceedings: Admissibility and related issues was released for general information and public comment by way of a media statement issued on 16 March 2010. The closing date for comment was 31 August 2010.

In the case of criminal proceedings, Issue Paper 27 is particularly concerned with the relationship between chapter three of the Electronic Communications and Transactions Act 25 of 2002 (ECT Act) and the rule against hearsay. The purpose of the Issue Paper is twofold: Firstly, to facilitate a focused debate on issues concerning the admissibility of electronic evidence in criminal and civil proceedings; and secondly, to allow stakeholders and practitioners in two sectors (criminal and civil) affected by the applicability and scope of the evidential provisions of the ECT Act to consider the issues raised and be provided with an opportunity to bring other relevant matters to the Commission's attention.

Comment and submissions received on Issue Paper 27, together with further in-depth research, will form the basis of a discussion paper where the issues identified for review and reform will be discussed in detail and preliminary recommendations for reform considered. The target date for finalising the evaluation of the comments on Issue Paper 127 is 30 June 2011.

Project 127 – Review of administration orders

The Minister of JCD requested the SALRC to investigate administration orders by following an incremental approach to distinguish between reforms that could be effected in the short to medium term and reforms that could be effected in the medium to long term.

The Commission decided on 30 September 2005 that a proposal should be made to the Department of Trade and Industry that the National Credit Bill, 2005 should provide for certain amendments which would pave the way for the abolishment of administration orders in terms of section 74 of the Magistrates' Courts Act 32 of 1944. However, the Bill was passed by Parliament without any of the proposed provisions. DOJCD then indicated that it would consider the repeal of section 74 amendments along the lines suggested.

When the Department of Trade and Industry submitted a proposal for urgent amendments to the National Credit Act and the Magistrates' Courts Act, the Commission reconsidered the matter. The Commission decided on 23 June 2007 that it would continue with the investigation. During March 2008 the Commission published a questionnaire on the future of administration orders in view of the provisions of the National Credit Act 34 of 2005. The Commission considered a document on 14 January 2009 detailing the researcher's response to comments on the questionnaire and approved the researcher's proposals on the way forward.

The Commission's preliminary views include the following:

- It would be to the detriment of debtors and others to abolish administration orders at this stage.
- If administration orders are retained a comprehensive review should be undertaken, but amendments which could be dealt with urgently must be identified.
- Administration orders should lapse after a specified number of years and all outstanding debts subject to the administration order should be discharged. This is subject to a court order on good cause shown made on the basis of an application by a creditor before the lapsing of the order that the debtor should not obtain a discharge for some or all of the outstanding debts.
- This is a matter where further consultation is advisable. The consultation can commence with stakeholder meetings and workshops with debtors under administration.

A document with proposed amendments to the Magistrates Courts Act 32 of 1944 has been compiled to address some of the problems identified. The document will serve as a basis for discussion at a workshop to be held on 31 May 2011. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper to the Commission for consideration is December 2011.

Project 134 – Administration of estates

A discussion paper dealing with measures to improve the administration process and to reduce the work of the supervising authority and executors was approved for publication by the Commission in September 2005 and is discussed in the 2005/2006 annual report.

Draft legislation recommended in an interim report dealing with the administration of small estates and streamlined procedures for other estates was submitted to the Minister on 19 August 2008. The acting Chief Master has requested that promotion of legislation be held back until the Integrated Case Management System – Masters (ICMS-Masters) has been developed. The system provides for the filing of electronic documents and the management of estates reported at service points (magistrate's offices) by experienced and well-qualified staff at the Masters' Offices.

Project 135 – Review of witchcraft legislation

The Commission received two submissions from the South African Pagan Council and the Traditional Healers' Organisation respectively, requesting that the Witchcraft Suppression Act 3 of 1957 and the proposed Mpumalanga Witchcraft Suppression Bill 2007 be investigated to determine their constitutionality.

A meeting was held with stakeholders on 4 September 2008 to explain the process to be followed in determining whether this investigation should be included in the SALRC's programme, as well as to clarify the substantive issues raised in the submissions. A document was prepared for consideration by the Commission. It provided background information on the concept of witches and witchcraft in South Africa; set out the current legal framework; described existing attempts at and suggestions for law reform in this area and measured the relevant facts against the Commission's criteria for the inclusion of an investigation.

The Commission approved a review of legislation pertaining to witchcraft on 1 August 2009. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 135 – Review of witchcraft legislation in the SALRC's programme on 23 March 2010.

Project 136 – Multi-disciplinary legal practices

The request for the inclusion of this investigation emanates from the SALRC's media conference of 7 March 2008. The Cape Law Society submitted a proposal to the SALRC on the possible recognition of multi-disciplinary practices for attorneys and the parameters that would need to be set should multi-disciplinary practices be recognised.

The SALRC sent a memorandum to DOJCD on 6 June 2008 seeking guidance from the Director-General on the inclusion of the investigation in the SALRC's programme, as it seems to fall within the purview of the Legal Practice Bill currently being developed by DOJCD. The DG agreed with the DOJCD recommendation that the SALRC should investigate the issue of multi-disciplinary practices for attorneys.

The Commission approved the inclusion of an investigation into multi-disciplinary legal practices on 25 October 2008. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 136 – Multi-disciplinary legal practices in the SALRC's programme on 23 March 2010.

Project 137 – Expungement of certain criminal records

During the deliberations on the Criminal Procedure Amendment Bill (enacted as the Criminal Procedure Amendment Act 65 of 2009), the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development received a number of inputs on the expungement of criminal records. The Portfolio Committee concluded that it is a complex matter that requires a balance between the right of citizens to be protected against criminals and the recognition that having a criminal record can cause undue hardship for an individual.

The Portfolio Committee decided to request that the Minister of JCD:

- Conducts further research on the different systems followed in the keeping of criminal records and their expungement. This research should draw, among others, on international best practice.
- Consults more widely with relevant stakeholders and the public on this issue.
- Reports to Parliament on his findings within 24 months of the adoption of this report by the National Assembly.

On 2 October 2009 the SALRC received a letter from the Minister requesting the chairperson to include a new investigation in its programme dealing with the expungement of certain criminal records. The Commission approved an investigation into this matter on 13 March 2010. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 137 – Expungement of certain criminal records in the SALRC's programme on 28 April 2010. The target date for finalising the draft discussion paper is 31 August 2011.

Project 138 – The practice of ukuthwala

On 15 March 2009 the SABC and e-TV television news covered the practice of forced marriages and the sale of young girls (between 12 and 15 years) into marriages with adult men that are prevalent in some parts of the country. On 24 August 2009 the SALRC received a request from the Gender Directorate of DOJCD to investigate the practice of ukuthwala; its impact on the girl-child; the appropriateness and adequacy of the current law of ukuthwala and compliance with the human rights of the girl-child, also taking the principle of the best interest of the child into consideration.

The Commission hosted a roundtable discussion on ukuthwala on 30 November 2009. The purpose of the discussion was to gather information on the subject to enable the Commission to decide whether or not to include an investigation into this issue in the SALRC's programme. About 50 people representing various stakeholders attended the discussion.

The Commission approved an investigation into the practice of ukuthwala on 14 August 2010. The Minister approved the inclusion of Project 138 – The practice of ukuthwala in the SALRC's programme on 2 December 2010.

Preliminary investigations

Violence against pregnant women

In South African law, the common law offence of murder consists in the intentional and unlawful killing of another person. The culpable and unlawful killing of an unborn baby by a third party does not constitute a crime since a foetus is not considered to be a person. The current position in South African law is that a person only attains legal subjectivity at birth.

The Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions in Grahamstown requested the inclusion of an investigation with regard to the culpable and unlawful killing of an unborn baby by a third party in the SALRC's programme. A proposal paper dealing with the South African legal position (referring to the Constitution, the 'born alive' rule in the common law, delict and succession, procedural law, murder, attempted murder, abortion and sentencing), the international legal position, relevant international instruments, regional treaties, foreign jurisdictions, the phenomenon of violence against pregnant women and local cases to recommend the inclusion of the investigation served before the Commission on 25 October 2008.

After consideration of a supplementary proposal paper on 10 October 2009, the Commission approved the inclusion of the project, but under an amended title, namely 'Violence against Pregnant Women'. A memorandum to request the Minister of JCD to approve the inclusion of the project in the SALRC's programme was submitted to the Department. The Commission is still awaiting the Minister's decision on whether to include this investigation in the SALRC's programme.

Cyber crime

The Commission initiated a preliminary investigation into cyber crime in response to growing concern about the adequacy of current legislation to address the rising threat of cyber crime. The researcher was allocated to the preliminary investigation in August 2009. The target date for finalising the proposal paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 31 August 2011.

Access to Justice

This preliminary investigation is an initiative of the SALRC in terms of its statutory powers to initiate investigations. The purpose of the preliminary investigation is to investigate obstacles to access to justice for the poor, use of indigenous languages in courts and access to justice for women and people with disabilities with a view to proposing legal reforms if necessary. The target date for finalising the proposal paper for submission to the Commission for consideration is 29 April 2011.

Protection of journalistic sources

The Freedom of Expression Institute (FXI) requested the SALRC to investigate the amendment of section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act to introduce a 'shield law' to protect confidential journalistic sources and information. The issuing of subpoenas in 2009 and 2010 calling for two e-TV journalists to divulge their sources and confidential information highlighted the controversy around conflicting rights and the manner in which section 205 is abused. The question at the core of this conflict appears to be whether the public interest in compelling a journalist to reveal confidential information or his or her sources outweighs the public interest in the free flow of information.

The Commission approved the inclusion of the investigation in the SALRC's programme on 14 August 2010. The researcher submitted a memorandum to the DOJCD to request the Minister's approval for the inclusion of the investigation in the SALRC's programme. The Commission is still awaiting the Minister's decision on whether to include this investigation in the SALRC's programme.

Placing a ban on the distribution and circulation of pornography through the mass media

The Deputy Minister of Home Affairs sent a letter to the SALRC on 15 September 2009, requesting advice on the possibility of an absolute ban on the dissemination and circulation of pornography through the electronic and printed media, as well as mobile technology. The request was discussed at the Commission meeting of 13 March 2010, where it was decided to conduct a preliminary investigation into the matter. The proposal paper resulting from the preliminary investigation was considered at the Working Committee meeting of 17 November 2010.

The Chairperson subsequently sent a letter to the Deputy Minister of Home Affairs in December 2010, informing her that the Commission is of the opinion that the existing legislative framework protecting children from exposure to pornography is inadequate and that ways of regulating and filtering pornography need to be explored in a holistic manner and not just in respect of a ban. Further, that the Working Committee decided that this matter warrants inclusion in Project 107 – Sexual Offences, where it will be dealt with alongside other relevant matters pertaining to pornography and the effect thereof on children, but that she should proceed with in-house legislative intervention if she wishes. On 6 January 2011 the researcher was informed telephonically by the Deputy Minister of Home Affairs that she would correspond with the Chairperson and the Minister of JCD to request that the SALRC give attention to this matter.

Reports Completed

CHAPTER 4: Reports Completed

Project 25 – Statutory Law Revision: Legislation administered by the Department of Transport

The South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) approved the report on Project 25 – Statutory Law Revision: Legislation administered by the Department of Transport on 10 October 2009. The report was submitted to the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development on 17 February 2010 for approval and referral thereof to the Minister of Transport. The Minister approved the report on 3 May 2010. The SALRC released the report for public information on 9 June 2010.

Background to the project on statutory law revision

The advent of democracy and the adoption of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa of 1996 necessitated a review of the country's legal, policy and institutional framework to ensure alignment with the Constitution. In January 2003 Cabinet approved that the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development coordinates and mandates the SALRC to review South African legislation for provisions that may result in discrimination as described in section 9 of the Constitution. Section 9 prohibits unfair discrimination based on race, gender, sex, pregnancy, marital status, ethnic and social origin, colour, sexual orientation, age, disability, religion, conscience, belief, culture, language and birth.

In 2004 the SALRC included a review of the entire statute book of South Africa as an investigation in its law reform programme. The purpose of the investigation is two-fold:

1. To align the South African statute book with the Constitution, especially the right to equality entrenched in section 9 of the Constitution.
2. To provide a statute book that is free from obsolete and redundant provisions.

Review of legislation administered by the Department of Transport

As part of this investigation, the SALRC has reviewed 218 Acts administered by the national Department of Transport (DOT), which Acts were enacted between 1910 and 2004. The subject-matter of these Acts includes railways, harbours, aviation, transport services, shipping, road transportation, advertising on roads, the adjudication of traffic offences and the Transnet Pension Fund. A consultative meeting was held with the legal advisers of the DOT on 20 October 2006 to discuss the investigation and the involvement of the DOT. The consultation paper containing the SALRC's preliminary findings and recommendations were also handed to the DOT's legal advisers for comment. On 20 November 2006 the DOT informed the SALRC that it agrees with the preliminary findings and proposals contained in the consultation paper.

The SALRC further developed the consultation paper referred to above and converted it into a discussion paper. Discussion Paper 114 was published for general information and public comment on 29 May 2008. It explained the background to the project on statutory law revision; set out the guidelines utilised by the SALRC to test the constitutionality, redundancy or obsolescence of statutes; listed the statutes administered by the DOT; provided detailed findings and proposals for law reform in respect of the statutes found wanting; and included a draft Transport Acts Repeal Bill setting out legislation or provisions in legislation that had been identified for repeal.

Specific stakeholders that were requested to comment on the discussion paper included the Department of Transport; agencies reporting to the Minister of Transport such as Transnet, the South African Civil Aviation Authority and the South African National Roads Agency; provincial departments responsible for transport; and the Parliamentary Portfolio Committee on Transport. The SALRC also received comments on the discussion paper from the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development; the Department of Transport, Roads and Public Works of the Northern Cape Provincial Government; the Department of Roads and Transport of the Mpumalanga Provincial Government and Transnet Freight Rail. On 1 October 2008 the Minister of Transport informed the SALRC that the DOT concurred with the recommendations made in the discussion paper. In January 2009 the DOT informed the SALRC of its decision to include the draft Transport Acts Repeal Bill as proposed in Discussion Paper 114 in its legislative programme for 2009.

Transport Laws Repeal Act 10 of 2010

On 19 March 2009 the SALRC informed the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development that it had no objections to the promotion of the Transport Acts Repeal Bill to Parliament, as the SALRC envisaged that the draft Bill in the SALRC report on transport legislation to follow would be similar in all respects to the draft Bill contained in Discussion Paper 114. The Transport Laws Repeal Bill [B19-2010] was introduced into Parliament on 19 July 2010.

On 30 November 2010 the President assented to the Transport Laws Repeal Act 10 of 2010. The Act was published in the Government Gazette on 2 December 2010 by Notice No. 1148. The President determined 16 February 2011 as the date on which the Transport Laws Repeal Act, 2010 (Act No. 10 of 2010) came into operation (Notice No. 7 in Government Gazette No. 34030 of 16 February 2011). Act 10 of 2010 repealed a number of Acts and provisions in Acts administered by the Department of Transport that had been identified by the SALRC as redundant or obsolete.

The SALRC expresses its sincere gratitude to the Department of Transport for its cooperation and assistance during this investigation, for initiating the parliamentary process to implement its recommendations, and for promoting the Transport Laws Repeal Act 10 of 2010 in Parliament.

Public Relations

CHAPTER 5: Public Relations

Public consultation

The SALRC relies extensively on the cooperation of institutions and persons who have an interest in its investigations for the efficient performance of the SALRC's functions. In order to ensure the best possible involvement of interested parties, it is the SALRC's policy to inform the public as far as possible of new investigations undertaken and of issue papers and discussion papers published for general information and public comment. The SALRC's issue papers and discussion papers are released by way of media statements so as to ensure good coverage. However, the SALRC also submits issue papers and discussion papers of its own accord to institutions that have an interest in the investigations concerned. The reaction to these documents is an indispensable link in the process of law reform and it plays an important role in the eventual recommendations made by the Commission in its reports.

Interaction with foreign law reform bodies and institutions

On 23 April 2010 the SALRC hosted a delegation from the Ethiopian Institution of the Ombudsman, led by Ms Fozia Amin Aliye, the Chief Ombudsman, and accompanied by Adv Thembi Bokako, Senior Manager: Executive Support in the Office of the Public Protector. The delegation, which included investigation officials, was on a visit to the Office of the Public Protector. The delegation was briefed on the working methods and mandate of the SALRC.

International liaison

SALRC researchers frequently liaise with international organisations, as well as experts and officials from other countries.

On 28 April 2010 Ms Ananda Louw participated in a panel discussion with the President of the International Association of Privacy Professionals from the United States, the Group Privacy and Compliance Director from Barclays, United Kingdom and the Head of Information Privacy, ABSA. The purpose of the meeting was to raise awareness of the newly proposed South African privacy legislation. The challenges faced and lessons learnt by the UK and the USA when privacy legislation was introduced there were also discussed.

On 9 June 2010 Ms Stuurman responded to inquiries from the UK Home Office with regard to prostitution and human trafficking in the context of the Soccer World Cup in South Africa.

The SALRC hosted two students from the University of Maryland School of Law as interns from 14 June 2010 to 31 July 2010. The students were assigned to Project 107: Adult prostitution and Project 100: Hindu marriages respectively.

On 8 November 2010 Mr Tienie Cronje participated in a telephone conference with the Chief Master and World Bank officials on the regulation of insolvencies.

Ms Ronel van Zyl did a presentation on the SALRC, its objects, functions, working methods and current research programme to LLM students from the John Marshall Law School, Chicago, USA on 15 March 2011.

Attendance of international conferences and meetings

Mr Tienie Cronje attended the Colloquium of International Exchange of Experience in Insolvency Law in Prague in May 2010. He also attended the Annual General Meeting and Conference of the International Association of Insolvency Regulators in Dublin, Ireland from 20 to 24 September 2010 on behalf of the Chief Master of the High Court. Mr Cronje chaired a Latin America and Africa Group Session.

Mr Cronje, on invitation from the World Bank, attended the INSOL / UNCITRAL / World Bank 9th Multinational Judicial Colloquium in Singapore from 12 to 13 March 2011 and the INSOL International Annual Regional Conference in Singapore from 14 to 15 March 2011.

Ismail Mahomed Law Reform Essay Competition

2009 Competition

The Ismail Mahomed Law Reform Essay Competition is a joint venture between the SALRC and Juta & Co. The competition was established in honour of the late Chief Justice and former Chairperson of the SALRC. The aim of this competition, an annual event at the SALRC, is to encourage critical legal writing by students, while generating new innovative ideas for the reform of the law. The initiative also seeks to encourage legal scholarship and public dialogue on the link between law reform, human rights and the rule of law. All LLB and LLM students registered at any South African university are eligible to enter the competition.

The prestigious Ismail Mahomed prize for 2009 was awarded to two law students at a ceremony held at the Constitutional Court on 16 April 2010. Among the dignitaries present at the ceremony were Mr Jeff Radebe, the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development; Judge Yvonne Mokgoro, former judge of the Constitutional Court and Chairperson of the SALRC; Mrs Mahomed, the widow of the late Chief Justice; and Mr Enver Mahomed, the brother of the late Chief Justice and his family.

Electronic and printed media and liaison

The SALRC maintains good relations with the electronic and the printed media. Information that, in the SALRC's opinion, is newsworthy is supplied to the media and enquiries are replied to fully and promptly. The SALRC wishes to express its gratitude for the interest displayed by the media in investigations conducted by the SALRC.

The Secretary deals with enquiries on the work of the SALRC virtually on a daily basis. These include enquiries from the media, other state departments, the professions, universities, NGOs and members of the public. Apart from dealing with routine enquiries on a regular basis, researchers and advisory committee members also participate in various programmes and discussions relating to their research projects. These take the form of, among others, interviews with radio stations, television appearances, articles in law journals and liaison with individuals and institutions.

The SALRC holds extensive workshops and briefings in respect of relevant investigations, which is in line with the Commission's policy of broadening its consultation base. An effort is made to host the workshops and present briefings in as many different locations (urban and rural) as possible and the target audiences are state departments, parliamentary committees, relevant NGOs, the legal fraternity, relevant experts and the community in general.

Researchers and advisory committee members often participate in activities not initiated by the SALRC nationally and abroad. They are invited by government departments, NGOs and other institutions to attend seminars or conferences and to participate in workshops relating to investigations on the SALRC's programme. In addition, they are frequently requested to present papers or lectures on the research projects that they are involved in or have been involved in. This approach facilitates cooperation between the SALRC and other role players, serves to publicise the SALRC's activities and ensures that duplication of initiatives is avoided.
